

Radio has gone down the drain. It has no substance and is only offering what is trendy or repeated everywhere else. Let XM fill the void that most listeners are looking for and allow them to add more service to their lineup to attract those who need that info, when they want to just tune in, then waiting for 6 commercials to get a glimpse of what they waited for.